These records are part of a collection held by RBS Archives relating to the Company of Scotland Trading to Africa and the Indies.

The whole collection is inscribed on UNESCO's UK Memory of the World Register, in recognition of its importance to our shared cultural heritage.

background When the Company of Scotland was wound up in 1707, many of the crew members of its ships were still owed wages. One of the tasks of the Equivalent Company, created to administer the debts of the Company of Scotland, was to ensure that these arrears were paid to the crew members involved.

A number of the company's ships had been wrecked in the two expeditions to Darien in 1698 and 1699, with the loss of many lives. This left the Equivalent Company with the complex task of identifying the appropriate recipients of these deceased sailors' wages. Each mariner had been required to complete a legal declaration before his voyage, giving instructions for the payment of outstanding wages in the event of his death, and the Equivalent Company used these documents to identify the appropriate recipients of payments.

documents The receipts are printed forms which have been completed by hand for each individual crew member. The amount of surviving paperwork varies considerably for each individual; in some cases only the receipt has survived, whereas in others the original legal declaration is also present. Most of the declarations identify the sailor's next of kin or legal successor. Some give additional information (for example, place of residence) about the crew member himself.

The papers concerning some of the mariners also include documentation showing the subsequent assignment of the debts to a third party, or to a sequence of third parties. In a handful of cases, the original declaration survives but not the receipt for payment.

Receipts are held for arrears of pay to crewmen of St Andrew, Endeavour, Dolphin and Unicorn, which travelled to Darien in the first expedition (1698), and Rising Sun, Hope and Speedy Return from the second expedition (1699).

physical description 801 articles of varying sizes relating to 358 crew members, originally arranged into 15 bundles according to ship. Crew receipts are printed forms completed by hand; supporting documents are handwritten.

alphabetical index The rest of this document comprises an alphabetical index to the ships' crewmen mentioned in the receipts for payment of arrears to seamen.
